

Contents

STEFAN WEINFURTER (Heidelberg): Preface to the Series .....	7
FRANK KRÄMER, KATHARINA SCHMIDT, JULIKA SINGER (Heidelberg): Introduction .....	9
I. Theories and Strategies of Extraordinary Violence
JULIANE SCHIEL (Zürich): The Mongol and the Ottoman Threat: A Comparison Between Two Experiences of Violence .....	21
KATHARINA SCHMIDT (Heidelberg): “With hearts of iron and swords for whips” – The Mongols as “Specialists of Violence” .....	39
DR. JOHANNES GIESSAUF (Graz): A Programme of Terror and Cruelty. Aspects of Mongol Strategy in the Light of Western Sources .....	55
II. Nomadic Violence under the Microscope
PROF. CHARLES BOWLUS (University of Arkansas): Predatory Nomadism in the Carpathian Basin: The Magyar Example (860-955) .....	71
PROF. REUVEN AMITAI (Jerusalem): Im Westen nichts Neues? Re-examining Hülegü’s Offensive into the Jazira and Northern Syria in Light of Recent Research .....	83
FRANK KRÄMER (Heidelberg): The Conquest and Destruction of Bagdad in 1258 – an Example of Mongolian Violence .....	97
III. Historicizing Extraordinary Violence
DR. JUDITH FRÖHLICH (Zürich): Between Local History and National Myth: The Mongol Invasions in Japan .....	117

JULE NOWOITNICK (Berlin): Heroic Violence, Violent Heroes. Transcultural Representations of Violence in Recent Western Historical Novels .....	141
JULIKA SINGER (Heidelberg): The Representation of Violence as a Political Strategy – the Mongolian Invasions in Modern Japanese Visual Media .....	163
Index .....	195